	Morning Edition	01/02/17	06:04, 07:04	00:00:20	Republicans who control the Indiana Statehouse say fiscal restraint is in order when they convene in January. But while they preach frugality ahead of the session that begins Tuesday, they are also planning to ramp up spending on roads and bridges.
	Morning Edition	01/03/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:00	Indiana lawmakers are retiring to the Statehouse for the start of their annual legislative session. The Senate will gavel in for this year's session at 1:30 p.m., today. The House will gavel in Wednesday at the same time. GOP leaders who command supermajorities in both chambers say they have two major priorities this year. One will be writing the state's next two-year budget. The other is crafting a plan -- and a likely tax increase -- that will fund road improvements and infrastructure projects into the future.
	Morning Edition	01/03/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:00:30	Indiana lawmakers are retiring to the Statehouse for the start of their annual legislative session. The Senate will gavel in today, followed Wednesday by the House. GOP leaders who command supermajorities in both chambers say one of their priorities is writing the state's next two-year budget. The other is crafting a plan, and a likely tax increase, to fund road improvements and infrastructure projects into the future.
	All Things Considered	01/03/17	14:00, 17:00, 18:00	00:01:00	Indiana lawmakers returned to the Statehouse today to begin the 2017 legislative session where they'll be crafting the next two-year state budget. The Senate and House chambers gavelled into session at 1:30. The republican party has supermajorities in both chambers. The party says this year's priorities are the biennial budget and finding a way to fund road improvements and infrastructure projects.
	Morning Edition	01/04/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:00	House Republicans are set to unveil their agenda for this year's legislative session, including their plan to fund infrastructure improvements across Indiana for years to come. House Speaker Brian Bosma will make the announcement this morning. He will appear alongside GOP roads committee chairman Rep. Ed Solitary and Ways and Means Chairman Rep. Tim Brown. The House roads plan is expected to increase taxes and fees that could make gasoline, cigarettes, and car registration more expensive.
	Morning Edition	01/04/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:20	House Republicans are set to unveil their agenda for this year's legislative session today, including their plan to fund infrastructure improvements across Indiana for years to come. 	Morning Edition	01/05/17	05:45, 06:44, 07:44, 08:44	00:00:20	Funding to fix and maintain Indiana roads and bridges in a big priority for this year's legislative session and every caucus has opinions on how to finance the fixes. House republicans have now unveiled their proposal.
	Morning Edition	01/05/17	07:04, 08:04	00:00:20	House Republicans want to increase taxes and fees paid by motorists in order to fund infrastructure improvements across Indiana for years to come. A plan unveiled Wednesday by Speaker Brian Bosma would increase the cost of fuel by 10-cents-a-gallon. Vehicle owners would have to pay an additional $15 yearly registration fee.
	Morning Edition	01/05/17	6:04	00:00:30	House Republicans want to increase taxes and fees paid by motorists in order to fund infrastructure improvements across Indiana for years to come. House Speaker Brian Bosma unveiled a plan that would increase the cost of fuel at the pump by 10-cents-a-gallon. Vehicle owners would also have to pay an additional $15 a year registration fee. And the proposal would make it easier for local governments to impose a wheel tax.
	All Things Considered	01/05/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:10	Governor-elect Eric Holcomb unveiled his legislative agenda today (THURS) for the General Assembly session that began Tuesday. And as Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, it includes a 20-year plan with potential tax increases, expanded pre-k... and making the State Superintendent or Public Instruction an appointed position.
	Morning Edition	01/06/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:10	Governor-elect Eric Holcomb unveiled his legislative agenda Thursday for the General Assembly session that began Tuesday. And as Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, it includes a 20-year road plan with potential tax increases, expanded pre-k... and making the State Superintendent of Public Instruction an appointed position.

	Morning Edition	01/11/17	05:44, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:10	Caucuses in the General Assembly are rolling out their legislative agendas for the session... and Tuesday was the Senate Republicans' turn. As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, the caucus' top priorities include a long-term road funding plan, replacing the ISTEP test... and addressing vaping liquid regulations.
	All Things Considered	01/12/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:00	Ahead of Governor Eric Holcomb's first State of the State address next week, Republican legislative leaders say it's "critically important" that Holcomb support their charge to raise taxes for road funding. Holcomb has talked about fuel tax increases as a possible funding solution. Senate Appropriations Chair Luke Kenley says Holcomb needs to use his "bully pulpit" to convince the taxpayers and other legislators of its need.
	Morning Edition	01/13/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:00:30	The speaker of the Indiana House is urging Gov. Eric Holcomb to make a strong push for a tax hike to pay for much-needed road and bridge repairs, a politically tacky sell in a state that has long resisted higher taxes. Speaker Brian Bosma said it was "important" for his fellow Republican to voice his support for the chamber's plan to increase gas taxes and vehicle fees.
	Morning Edition	01/13/17	07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	The top republican in the Indiana House says it's important for Gov. Eric Holcomb to help sell a proposal that would raise taxes to pay for road improvements. House Speaker Brian Bosma said Thursday that he doesn't know if the governor will address the road funding needs during his first State of the State speech next week.
	Morning Edition	01/16/17	06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:30	Republican legislative leaders say it's "critically important" that Governor Eric Holcomb support their charge to raise taxes for road funding. As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, this comes ahead of Holcomb's State of the State address tomorrow.
	All Things Considered	01/16/17	16:00, 17:00, 18:00	00:01:15	Legislative leaders say naming too many specific infrastructure projects in this session's road funding bill could be damaging. As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, leaders want to keep the future of the repair and building money flexible.
	Morning Edition	01/17/17	05:45, 06:45, 07:44, 08:44	00:01:15	Legislative leaders say naming too many specific infrastructure projects in this session's road funding bill could be damaging. As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, leaders want to keep the future of the repair and building money flexible.
	Morning Edition	01/17/17	05:45, 06:45, 07:44, 08:44	00:00:45	The funding plan drafted by Indiana House Republicans for long-term road improvements includes language that would allow Indiana to explore options for tolling along some highways. The House plan has drawn attention for its call for an immediate 10-cent increase in Indiana's gas tax to pay for long-term statewide road improvements. But it also includes language about tolling, including the possibility of Indiana applying for a federal waiver...
	Morning Edition	01/18/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:40	Governor Eric Holcomb used his State of the State address Tuesday to make another pitch for creating a long-term, sustainable road funding plan. But as Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, Holcomb also continues to avoid specifics on how to pay for that plan.
	Morning Edition	01/23/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:40	A split is forming among Indiana Republican leaders over the use of tolling existing roadways as a solution for the state's road funding needs.
	Morning Edition	01/27/17	06:04, 07:04	00:00:15	Indiana House Speaker Brian Bosma says lawmakers need to "continue educating the public" about the need for a tax increase to pay for infrastructure projects. The Indianapolis Republican said Thursday that he wants to hold a contest to highlight the issue. He says whoever finds the worst pothole would be awarded a prize.
	Morning Edition	01/27/17	06:04, 07:04	00:01:30	Republican lawmakers faced questions and doubts about their proposals to raise fuel taxes last night (Thursday, January 26th). Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports the challenges came at a town hall meeting, from a crowd that is normally supportive of them.
	Morning Edition	01/30/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:35	As lawmakers grapple with funding the state's roads and bridges, many communities don't want them to forget another mode of transportation: rail. Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports on the potential future for the Hoosier State Line in the upcoming two-year state budget.
	Morning Edition	01/30/17	8:20	00:00:15	House democrats will roll out their own plan this week to pay for road building and repairs. Minority Leader Scott Pelath isn't ruling out a gas tax hike, as long as the pain at the pump is shared. Democrats have already suggested canceling the repeal of the inheritance tax and the phase-in of corporate tax cuts.
	Morning Edition	01/30/17	6:20	00:00:15	House democrats will roll out their own plan this week to pay for road building and repairs. Minority Leader Scott Pelath isn't ruling out a gas tax hike, as long as the pain at the pump is shared. Democrats have already suggested canceling the repeal of the inheritance tax and the phase-in of corporate tax cuts.

	All Things Considered	01/30/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:10	As lawmakers grapple with funding the state's roads and bridges, many communities don't want them to forget about rail transportation. Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports on the potential future for the Hoosier State Line in the upcoming two-year state budget.
	All Things Considered	02/06/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:15	Indiana House Democrats have billed their road funding plan as "No New Taxes." As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, Dems want to halt future tax cuts to help pay for the plan.
	Morning Edition	02/07/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:15	Indiana House Democrats have billed their road funding plan as "No New Taxes." As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, Dems want to halt future tax cuts to help pay for the plan.
	Morning Edition	02/07/17	06:04, 07:43, 08:43	00:00:30	Ads opposing a Republican plan to use higher fuel taxes to pay for infrastructure repairs will soon adorn gas pumps across Indiana. Raising taxes is a tricky sell in a conservative state like Indiana, where lawmakers are much more accustomed to cutting taxes than raising them.
	Morning Edition	02/07/17	05:20, 06:20, 07:20	00:00:30	Indiana House Democrats have unveiled a plan to pay for infrastructure improvements that they say would generate $900 million per year without raising taxes. Rep. Dan Forestall, the ranking Democrat on the House Roads and Transportation Committee, says the funding can come through existing resources by eliminating "areas of waste" and corporate tax breaks. Forestall says the Democratic plan would ban campaign money from influencing public contracts.
	Morning Edition	02/09/17	6:04	00:01:50	The House GOP roads plan, as introduced, would gradually shift all sales tax on fuel dollars from the General Fund to road funding over the next few years. House Ways and Means Chair Tim Brown offered an amendment, approved by his committee, to make that shift immediate.
	All Things Considered	02/13/17	16:00, 17:00, 18:00	00:01:00	Indiana officials have again delayed the deadline for finishing construction on the Interstate 69 extension between Bloomington and Martinsville. The Indiana Finance Authority says the new completion date will be May 31, 2018. Work on the 21-mile stretch began in 2014 and has since been plagued with delays. It was originally scheduled to be finished in October of 2016... and then the deadline was moved to October of this year.
	Morning Edition	02/14/17	05:20, 06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	The I-69 project that stretches from Bloomington to Martinsville has been delayed and is not expected to be complete until May 2018, said INDOT Monday. The delay will allow four-lane traffic flow to continue through the Bloomington area, starting in August.
	Morning Edition	02/14/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:00:20	Indiana officials have pushed back by another seven months the deadline for finishing construction on the Interstate 69 extension segment between Bloomington and Martinsville. The Indiana Finance Authority announced Monday the new completion deadline of May 31, 2018, after saying last month the 21-mile segment was set to be finished by Oct. 31.
	All Things Considered	02/16/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:05	The Indiana House approved comprehensive road funding legislation today (THURS) that raises fuel taxes and opens the door to tolling Indiana interstate highways. Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports.
	Morning Edition	02/17/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:10	The Indiana House approved comprehensive road funding legislation today (THURS) that raises fuel taxes and opens the door to tolling Indiana interstate highways. Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports.
	Morning Edition	02/17/17	05:20, 06:20	00:1:10	Republicans' plan to raise gas taxes to pay for roads has passed the House and is headed for the Senate: House Republicans' bill would raise gas taxes 10 cents a gallon immediately, then index the tax to inflation and income growth for the next seven years. You'd also pay an extra 15 dollars to register your car--electric vehicles would pay more.
	Morning Edition	02/20/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04, 08:43	00:00:10	Governor Holcomb says he's pleased with the House's work so far on a road funding plan, but he's still holding off endorsing a specific approach.
	Morning Edition	02/23/17	06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:20	A bill calling for Indiana authorities to use "any means necessary" to keep roadways clear during a protest was softened in a Senate committee. The bill by state Sen. Jim Tomes now states police have a duty to protect the public and keep roads clear. But instead of instructing police to use "any means necessary," the measure would now allow police to issue a ticket to those obstructing traffic.
	Morning Edition	02/24/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:00:30	Rolling closures will slow traffic in both directions on Interstate 69 around Anderson. The Indiana Department of Transportation says the closures will occur between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today between exits 226 and 234...

	Morning Edition	02/24/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:00:30	Midday bliss is awaiting motorists on I-69 in Madison County, today. Telephone utility crews will be installing new service lines, and police will engage rolling closures, slowing traffic in north and south-bound lanes on Interstate 69 near Anderson.
	Morning Edition	03/06/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:30	Nearly 90 percent of Indiana's roads are maintained by counties, cities and towns...yet those local units get less than half of the state's primary road funding dollars. Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports that's unlikely to change in this session's road funding plan.
	All Things Considered	03/06/17	16:00, 17:00, 18:00	00:01:00	Nearly 90 percent of Indiana's roads are maintained by counties, cities and towns...yet those local units get less than half of the state's primary road funding dollars. 	Morning Edition	03/03/17	05:20, 06:20	00:00:30	Indiana Congressman Jim Banks says to expect a proposal for replacing the Affordable Care Act that incorporates health savings accounts like those in Indiana's HIP 2.0.
	Morning Edition	03/08/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:45	The newly-announced House Republican plan to replace the Affordable Care Act keeps Medicaid expansions, such as Indiana's HIP 2.0, in place -- as is -- for the next three years. But after that date, as Indiana Public Broadcasting's Sarah Fentem reports, the future of such expansions would be up in the air.
	All Things Considered	03/08/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:30	The US House Republican plan to replace the Affordable Care Act says it will keep Medicaid expansions in place as is for the next three years. Indiana is home to one of these expansions, named HIP 2-point-OH.
	Morning Edition	03/13/17	06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	Most of Indiana's congressional delegation is steering clear of a conservative backlash against the Republican health care bill. Congresswoman Susan Brooks maintains the new plan can succeed in lowering health care cost which have continued to rise under the Affordable Care Act, by giving greater flexibility to states and insurers.
	Morning Edition	03/13/17	5:20	00:00:30	Most of Indiana's congressional delegation is steering clear of a conservative backlash against the Republican health care bill. Congresswoman Susan Brooks maintains the new plan can succeed in lowering health care cost which have continued to rise under
	Morning Edition	03/15/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:20	A newly-released report from the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office predicts 24 million people will lose insurance coverage if the proposed GOP Obamacare replacement passes.
	Morning Edition	03/16/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:30	Lawmakers in Washington are still trying to figure out how exactly to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act, also known as Obamacare. Side Effects Public Media's Jake Harper reports that the latest GOP plan - the American Health Care Act - has mental health and substance use treatment providers worried.
	Morning Edition	03/16/17	6:04	00:00:30	State officials say the Republican health care overhaul working its way through Congress could leave them with a tough decision: Find a way to pay for federal cutbacks or see coverage dropped for millions of Americans.
	All Things Considered	03/16/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:00:45	With votes on the federal health care reform bill looming, all of Indiana's congressional delegation has weighed in on the measure - but support for the GOP bill isn't universal among Republicans. Five of Indiana's Republican House members have registered support for the GOP's American Health Care Act.
	Morning Edition	03/17/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:00:30	Statehouse Democrats are calling on Indiana's congressional delegation to defend former Gov. Mike Pence's expansion of the state's Medicaid program from proposed GOP cuts backed by President Donald Trump. The current vice president's HIP 2.0 program covers more than 400,000 poor people in Indiana. But the Congressional Budget Office predicts the Republican proposal would lead to Medicaid cuts. Indiana House Democrats say the proposal could be "dire" for Indiana.
	All Things Considered	03/23/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:00:20	Though the US House of representative postponed a vote on the federal health care bill scheduled for today (THURS), Indiana Governor Eric Holcomb says he's backing the measure. As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Brandon Smith reports, the support comes after Holcomb expressed concerns about the bill only last week.
	Morning Edition	03/24/17	06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	Gov. Holcomb says he supports the congressional Republican bill to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act. However, Holcomb's support is somewhat at odds with his own statements calling on Washington Republicans to spare Medicaid funding, which pays for a state program covering poor people. The state stands to lose almost $1 billion a year in estimated funding.

Indiana Cigarette Tax

	Program / Description	Date	Time	Duration	Narration of type and description of program/segment
	All Things Considered	1/16/17	16:00, 17:00, 18:00	00:00:35	State legislators are introducing efforts to curb Indiana's smoking rate--currently one of the highest in the nation. A few bills have been proposed this session, but one from Cindy Kristofer would do several things. It would raise the tobacco tax by a dollar fifty. It appropriates millions of dollars in state money to tobacco prevention and cessation. But she says it would also change the smoking age in the state to 21, to curb youth smoking.
	Morning Edition	1/17/17	05:45, 06:45, 07:44, 08:44	00:01:00	11,100. That's how many adults die each year from smoking in Indiana. But the state also has a really low cigarette tax, and research shows if you make people pay more per pack, they'll be more likely to quit--and less likely to start in the first place...
	Morning Edition	1/26/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:01:15	Senate lawmakers heard much testimony today in favor of a bill that would significantly reduce restrictions on manufacturers who make e-liquids for electronic cigarettes. As Indiana Public Broadcasting's Becca Costello reports, Republican Senator Randy Head's proposal is a response to highly controversial regulations that went into effect last year.
	Morning Edition	2/2/17	07:04, 08:04	00:00:20	A House panel has unanimously backed raising the state's cigarette tax by $1.50 per pack and barring those under 21 from buying cigarettes. Republican Rep. Cindy Kirchofer of Beech Grove says the bill will help address the state's high smoking rates and improve Indiana's overall health.
	Morning Edition	2/3/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:01:45	Indiana has one of the nation's highest smoking rates. Yesterday, the House Public Health Committee voted on a bill that aims to bring that rate down, in part by raising the cigarette tax by a dollar fifty. Side Effects Public Media's Jake Harper has more.
	Morning Edition	2/16/17	05:20, 06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:45	Indiana House Republicans are proposing a $1 increase in the cigarette tax to help indirectly fill the budget hole caused by shifting all the state sales tax on gasoline to road funding. Originally House Republicans had planned to shift the entire state sales tax on gasoline to the road fund over a three or four year period.
	Morning Edition	2/16/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:00:45	The House Republican budget, House Bill 1001, includes a one dollar-per-pack cigarette tax increase...which would generate more than 570 million dollars in the next two years. While budget author Representative Tim Brown says the cigarette tax money will go specifically to Medicaid, he notes that it helps free up dollars in the General Fund.
	All Things Considered	2/27/17	17:00, 18:00	00:00:45	Today's House-passed budget also includes a provision to double the state's cigarette tax--from one dollar per pack to two dollars. The bill goes next to the Senate. If it's signed into law, the change is expected to bring nearly 280 million dollars in revenue in 2018. Lawmakers and health advocates hope it could also help lower Indiana's smoking rate...
	Morning Edition	2/28/17	07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	The Indiana House has approved a two-year state spending proposal that relies on revenue from a $1-per-pack cigarette tax increase. The $3.17 billion budget put forward by House Republicans was passed Monday on a 68-29 vote. It now heads to the GOP-controlled Senate, which will make its own changes to the measure in the weeks to come.
	All Things Considered	3/6/17	16:30, 17:30, 18:30	00:01:00	Indiana convenience stores are speaking against a proposed cigarette tax hike in budget hearings at the Statehouse. A budget proposal in the House includes raising the tax on cigarettes by a dollar a pack. If passed, the change is expected to bring in nearly 280 million dollars in revenue in 2018.
	Morning Edition	3/7/17	05:20, 06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	Indiana convenience stores are speaking against a proposed cigarette tax. The House of Republicans' tax proposal of adding a dollar per pack was the main focus of attention as the senate committee conducted the first of seven hearings on a new state budget.
	Morning Edition	3/10/17	05:43, 06:43, 07:43, 08:43	00:00:20	The leader of the Indiana House says he is willing to back down at least partially on a proposed $1 per pack cigarette tax increase.
	Morning Edition	3/10/17	05:20, 06:20, 07:20, 08:20	00:00:30	With the Senate sounding skeptical of a proposed cigarette-tax hike, House Speaker Brian Bosmqa is floating a possible compromise. Health advocates want to raise the tax a buck-and-a-half-a-pack.
	Morning Edition	3/10/17	06:04, 07:04, 08:04	00:00:15	Senate leaders have been noticeably unenthusiastic about taxing you more when you buy cigarettes, and the House for the first time is speculating about changes.
	Morning Edition	3/17/17	5:20	00:00:20	A scaled-back cigarette tax hike may make it more likely you'll be paying more per pack. The Senate has taken a dim view of the House-passed proposal to raise the tax a dollar a pack.
