

FAQ:

Does it cost anything to participate?

Nope! Participation is completely free to volunteers.

If I feel uncomfortable participating in person, can I choose to participate virtually?

Of course, you can! We are happy to make accommodations for anybody uncomfortable with a face-to-face conversation.

What is the goal of this project?

We are trying to take small steps toward reminding the country of the shared values that unite us all, and we do it through facilitating meaningful conversations between folks who might otherwise think they have absolutely nothing in common.

Where will the conversations be taking place?

IPR studio (Ball State's Campus-- Letterman Building, LB 128)

When will the conversations be taking place?

How long will the conversations last?

The conversations themselves will be about 40 minutes long, but with the addition of filling out necessary paperwork and other various set-up tasks, participants should expect to stay for about an hour

How can I prepare for my interview?

These sessions are not scripted. They are intended to be natural conversations. It is a good idea to spend some time before your interview thinking about what questions you want to ask or topics you want to explore. We will provide some suggested questions. Consider bringing your own list of questions. But do not over-prepare. Just come ready to be yourself.

What do I need to bring to the interview?

You only need to bring yourself, and perhaps a list of your own questions if you've written one.

Who will be present during the interview?

The only people present in the room will be you, your conversation partner, and a conversation facilitator whose job is to make sure participants have a comfortable and meaningful experience.
